A Helping Hand Here at Home and Around the World

DISPATCH FROM INDIA:

LPF team member moved by visit to the poor, sick and dying.

Story and photo by Ajith Joseph, LPF team member

A disabled man receives a check for 1,000 Rs (Rupees) from the local parish in Trivandrum, India. Sisters with the Lenny Peters Foundation, along with staff members, visit the sick, elderly, and poor. On a regular basis, the visits include delivering funds, care, prayers and companionship to all who need and are willing to receive help.

Soul stirred during parishioner visit

On recent trips to local parishes, Lenny Peters Foundation staff member Ajith Joseph is moved by what he witnesses

TRIVANDRUM, INDIA – When we look from outside, everything looks good, but when we visit the homes, inside we find the owners in financially weak situations. Some of their homes are in disrepair. Some have their homes mortgaged to the hilt and live in fear of eviction.

All of the people we visit have health problems; some have cancer or are bed ridden due to stroke. When I see them, I realize how lucky I am. I have a good house, thank God, no health issues and no financial problems. I wish more people could visit these homes so that they know how blessed their own lives are.

When you see a bed ridden person who needs someone else's help with the slightest tasks, in our minds we wish, "let this not happen in our life."

When you visit these houses, only then do we come to understand how much people are suffering for one reason or another.

HIGH POINT, N.C. –

Collaboration and teamwork are the pillars supporting every successful endeavor since the dawn of mankind.

Plans can change, designs be redrawn and goals adjusted over time, but without a well-functioning team behind them even the best laid strategies are doomed from the start.

I am proud to say we have put together a team that knows how to communicate, delegate, shoulder accountability and share credit like no other team before.

Starting with our Directors of Operation in India, Gladis Eugene Bastian, and in South Africa, Suan Jacob, and with the recent addition of Ajith Joseph, Renjiny George, Feji Anju and our newly installed Global Director John Joyce, we have an All-Star team assembled and already executing beyond our highest expectations.

The primary reason for such early success is that each person is individually committed to the collective mission, to be, "A Helping Hand Here at Home and Around the World."

May God and the Universe bless us all and those whom we serve.

Visit

The concept of health insurance has not reached most of the families, so they cannot afford good medical care in large private hospitals. Some families would lose everything paying for this person to be treated.

“... They have no answer, yet they say how blessed they are.”

Ajith Joseph, LPF staff member

In the U.S., there are a lot of homeless (people). Then you consider yourself lucky if you have a roof over your head.

We complain about a lot of things, and I include myself. People have told me long back when they visit the cancer center in Trivandrum (Kerala, India), they find little children who have cancer. And they have no answer, yet they say how blessed they are.

You could have the best insurance coverage, the best of everything, but no guarantee what life might hand you in old age. You are lucky if you have a nice family, good health and peace running in your home.

The Lenny Peters Foundation is helping by giving its share to aide these poor people. Still, a lot more needs to be done, such as reaching more people each month.

For some, with this help they could buy medicines for the month. Others could buy food.

Welcome!
